

Imperial personal shield

There are 2 different kinds of personal shield.

Waist shield

Shield strength dial

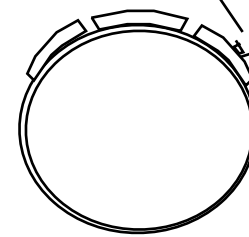

On/off switch

Access plates

Front view

Shield strength dial

On/off switch

Top view

The waist shield is a lot more powerful than the hand shield but it is not as concealed and is quite a bit heavier.

---

Hand shield

On/off switch

Shield strength dial

Clip

Clip

Access plate

Front view

On/off switch

Shield strength dial

Clip

Clip

Side view

The hand shield is not as powerful as the waist shield but makes up for this in concealment. It is great for the times where you want the protection of a shield but don't want to wear a bulky waist shield.

---

All shields react violently when they are hit by a lasgun. Lasgun beams carry some unknown element and when it hits the shield it reacts in such a way that is dangerous to living tissue. First the shield emits alpha rays with cause death over the long term. The surrounding area is then rocked by spacial waves which, depending on the strength of the shield, can cause light headaches all the way through to tearing the flesh apart.